A Dialogue of Self and Soul: Plain Jane's Progress

SANDRA M. GILBERT
The text on the page is too small to be legible. It appears to be a page from a book or a document, but the content cannot be accurately transcribed due to the image resolution and size.
creation of the people, who speak but for Christ when he says—

"The whole creation is under the curse..." (Gal 3:3) This means that the whole creation is under a curse because of sin. And yet, in the midst of this cursed creation, God has chosen to save a few people who are not cursed by sin. These people are the elect, and they are the ones who will inherit the kingdom of heaven.

For the people of God, this is a source of hope and comfort in a world that is full of suffering and pain. It is a reminder that even in the midst of sin and darkness, there is still hope for salvation. The book of Romans 8 provides a powerful example of this hope, as it describes how God's love and grace are manifested in the lives of those who are saved.

The book of Romans 8 is full of powerful theological truths, and it is a source of comfort for those who are struggling with the realities of sin and death. It is a reminder that even in the midst of suffering, there is still hope for salvation and eternal life. For the people of God, this is a source of great joy and comfort, as they await the day when they will be free from the curse of sin and death.